

Description of Beer Categories for the 26th Annual USBTC Winter Competition

Whiskey Barrel-Aged Beer:	Beer of any style (excluding porter and stout—see below) that is aged in a whiskey barrel or otherwise imparted with whiskey flavors. There is no ABV limit .
Whiskey Barrel-Aged Porter/Stout	Porters and Stouts (including Imperial versions) that are aged in a whiskey barrel or otherwise imparted with whiskey flavors. There is no ABV limit .
Non-Whiskey Barrel/Wood-Aged Beer	Beer of any style that is aged in other (non-whiskey) barrels or with wood chips. There is no ABV limit .
Barleywine:	Ales with ABV>9.0% , excluding other styles on this page (excluding Imperial IPA/Amber/Red Ale - a separate category in our summer competition). There is no ABV limit .
Strong Ale:	Ales with ABV from 6.5% - 9.0% , excluding American Black Ale (below) as well as India Pale Ale and Imperial IPA/Amber/Red Ale (summer categories).
American Black Ale:	Black IPA, Cascadian Dark Ale and aggressively-hopped Brown Ale are included in this category, which includes highly-hopped ales with a significant amount of dark malt character. There is no ABV limit .
Imperial Stout:	Stouts or porters with ABV>7.5% .
Stout:	All ales labeled “stout” with an ABV of 7.5% or less .
Porter:	All ales labeled “porter” with an ABV of 7.5% or less . This includes lager-yeast Baltic Porter if ABV is 7.5% or less. Otherwise, the beer should be placed in Imperial Stout.
Scottish-Style Ale:	All ales brewed to mimic the Scottish tradition; that is, a heavily malt-accented character and often smoky/peaty/whiskey undertones. There is no ABV limit .
Belgian/Abbey Strong Ale:	Ales brewed in traditional Abbey/Belgian styles, including Dubbel, Trippel, Quad and other strong Belgian ales. Excluded are Belgian/French styles in our summer categories (Belgian Pale Ale, Saison, Farmhouse Ale, Belgian Bruin/Red Ale, Wit). There is no ABV limit .
Brown Ale:	Ales brewed with significant amounts of dark malt typically imparting chocolate, nutty, and/or roast flavor, including Mild Ale. ABV must be 6.5% or less and the beer should not be otherwise classified as a porter/stout.
Black/Dark Lager:	Lagers denoted as “dunkel,” “schwarzbier,” “dark” or “black”. ABV must be 6.5% or less . Those with ABV>6.5% would be categorized in Bock (summer category).
Vienna/Marzen Lager:	Lagers described as “Vienna,” “Marzen,” “Octoberfest,” “Fest” or “Amber Lager” or “California Common.” ABV must be 6.5% or less . Those with ABV>6.5% would be categorized in Bock (summer category).
Bean Beer:	Beer with significant coffee, chocolate, vanilla or other flavor based on an addition that comes from a “bean.” The flavor must be imparted from the addition (as opposed to chocolate flavor coming solely from malt, for instance). There is no ABV limit .
Spice/Herb Beer:	Beer of any style that contains a clearly detectable level of spice or herb flavoring in the taste, excluding Belgian styles. There is no ABV limit .
Experimental Beer:	Any beer utilizing untraditional brewing techniques or atypical ingredients may be placed here. This includes atypical sugars, grains and vegetables. There is no ABV limit .

Note that a beer can only be entered in one category.
